Medicare will go into effect tomorrow according to the social security district manager in San Diego, Arlyn B. Carr.

Carr said that San Diego County aged have a choice of 24 hospitals now certified to provide medical care under the program.

Carr said "admitting a Medicare beneficiary will be much like admitting a patient covered by Blue Cross or a private health insurance policy." The patient will be asked to show the health insurance identification card sent to him in the mail.

Blue Cross will receive and pay most bills under the hospital insurance part of Medicare.

They will check with social security and notify hospitals of the patient's eligibility, the number of hospital days he has remaining of the 90 days covered in each instance of illness, and whether he has met the $40 deductible payable by the patient toward the hospital bills during each illness.

For older people who are in the hospital after June 30, Medicare will pay hospital costs over and above the first $40 of services provided July 1 or later. Costs over the $40 deductible are covered for a stay of 60 days or less. After 60 days, Medicare will pay all but $10 a day for an additional 30 days.

Carr stressed that each Medicare beneficiary should read his green Medicare handbook. Carr said most questions are answered in the book.

Chairman De Graff Austin, who had been with Gibson in opposing some of the cuts said, "Well, I'm going to swallow hard and vote yes."

Chief Administrative Officer T. M. Heggland was directed to investigate the request of Second District Supervisor Henry Boney that the county establish service centers in major county facilities where citizens can learn what permits are required and the cost of them for various functions.

You Can't Legislate Morality

The fact that Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, president of the California League Enlisting Action Now (CLEAN), Inc., was able to get more than the 470,000 signatures required to put an anti-obscenity initiative on the November ballot is proof that a stronger rebellion against smut exists than most people realize. Qualifying was achieved without a lot of fan-fare. As a comparison, four other proposed initiatives on a variety of subjects failed to qualify.

As opposed to smut as we are, we cannot support the CLEAN proposal as an answer to the obscenity problem.

One section of the proposed law calls for seizure of all copies of an object which any public officer believes contains obscene material. The measure contains specific language permitting any citizen to order such an officer to act, under threat of action against the officer.

But what is smut?

If a clear line could be drawn between what is obscene and what is not, legislation would be plain and simple.

Existing laws in the State Penal Code defines obscenity as matter whose appeal is to prurient interest and matter "which is utterly without redeeming social importance."

The initiative would remove the clause: "utterly without redeeming social importance."

Under the U. S. Supreme Court's interpretation of the Constitution "redeeming social importance" is one of the considerations under the First Amendment. Any law that would infringe on public and free expression without consideration of "redeeming social importance" would likely be tossed out as unconstitutional.

What are the measurements of obscenity?

The picture of a local beauty contest winner clad in a swim suit would be called obscene by some. What about a picture of a woman in lingerie in a newspaper or magazine ad. Or a rear picture of a woman in stretch pants? Or a man in his surfing shorts? Is a man's hairy chest obscene in a newspaper? It is to some. Or a woman's thighs?

If in the judgement of the viewer any of these things are indecent it would be contrary to the CLEAN law. For that matter some people can find sexual suggestion in any picture which shows any part of the anatomy other than feet, hands and face.

Yet, if some neurotic felt repulsed by one of the pictures that a normal person gives no second thought to, he could blow the whistle on the publication and it would be several days before a jury to declare the victim innocent. A newspaper can't be published that way. It would have lost its constitutional freedom. The people would be a greater loser than it is now with our weak obscenity control laws.

One school of thought suggests an effort in raising the moral sights of society rather than to try to legislate morality.

We are among these.

WHAT IS PRAYER?

Prayer involves a recognition of our dependence upon God. The best of good works performed without any consideration of God have nothing to do with prayer. They are not even religious. They are purely humanitarian — transactions between man and man with God omitted.

New Airport 50 Per Cent Complete Say Architects

Lewis Dean and Olaf Oxford, San Diego architects, were speakers at the breakfast meeting of the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club June 22. They showed drawings and movies of the work being done on the new airport at Lindbergh Field.

The work is about 50 per cent complete, Dean said. He said part of the old terminal will be retained and that a strip of land along the bay front is to be made into a park.

Eight airlines will be in operation on the new field. Two more might be added in a short time. There will be room to park 1,400 cars and room to expand to 3,000 more, Dean said.

The buildings will be one-story structures and the distance from the field to the terminal will be about 300 feet, Dean pointed out. He said it is hoped the installation will be open early in 1967.

Paul Yee, inter-club chairman for the club, said there will be an inter-club meeting at 7 a.m. on July 13 between Spring Valley and Southeastern. The breakfast-meeting will be held in Helix House, College Grove, next to Walter Scott.

Several members of the Chula Vista Kiwanis Club were in attendance at the meeting.

Slightly over 12 million persons lived on U. S. Farms during 1965, and 6.4% of the total population.

'God Told Me To Turn The Steering Wheel Loose,' Says Accident Victim

Human carelessness, drinking drivers, unpredictable acts by animals, emotional disturbances and physical defects were all to blame for accidents coded by the California Division of Highways during a recent three-day period.

Reports of all accidents occurring on state highways are studied by the Division because such research sometimes provides facts that can be used in eliminating some physical conditions that can contribute to accidents.

"A check of the reports we receive during any working day proves the need for drivers to stay alert, assume the unexpected will happen, and drive defensively at all times," State Highway Engineer J. C. Womack said today.

Numerous Cars

"People who follow these rules stand the best chance of not coming to grief — especially at times such as the coming July 4th weekend when so many cars will be on the highways!"

Womack cited carelessness as the reason for a mishap that began when a door secured with rope came open, the driver's wife fell out, and he was

Grossmont JC Grads Earn High Rating

A recent report by San Diego State College on the scholastic standing of junior college students transferring to that institution in the fall of 1965 indicates that Grossmont College students exceeded the grade point average of transfers from junior colleges as a whole.

Grossmont College students who transferred to San Diego State College in September, 1965 maintained a grade point average of 2.30 compared to a grade point average of 2.23 for all junior colleges.

The report was based on 1227 transfers from junior colleges and included 133 students transferring from Grossmont College.

More than half the nation's medical schools and many of this country's most distinguished physicians are associated with the March of Dimes medical program.

Consumption of ice cream and other frozen dairy treats totaled more than 21 quarts per person in 1965, nearly one pint higher than in 1964.

To be extra safe while driving this Fourth of July weekend, the Auto Club of Southern California suggests that you be doubly communicative.

When making turns, use your arm signals as well as your turn-indicator blinker lights.

Before leaving on your vacation this summer, the Auto Club of Southern California suggests that you have a valid car registration certificate and driver's license with the correct address on both.

injured when he swerved from the highway.

Another man came to grief when a bear jumped off a bank onto the road in front of his car. A woman lost control when her pet poodle jumped into her lap.

God Speaks!

Emotional instability was to blame in the case of the man who thought God told him to turn the steering wheel loose.

After another single car accident, it was discovered by the Highway Patrol that the driver not only was unlicensed, but receives a pension because he is blind.

A driver who had been drinking ran into the side of a bridge and escaped unscathed until he got out to check the damage, fell off the bridge into the river below, and broke his leg.

Laws Broken

Womack believes that none of these accidents would have happened had the legal drivers been alert and the illegal drivers not broken the law.

"The California Transportation agency is doing everything it can to stop highway accidents. Its three units — the Division of Highways, the Department of Motor Vehicles, and the Highway Patrol — are working overtime on accident prevention.

"We cannot succeed, however, unless we can enlist the support of all responsible drivers but with their help, we can go far toward eliminating the unfortunate accident record compiled in California to date.

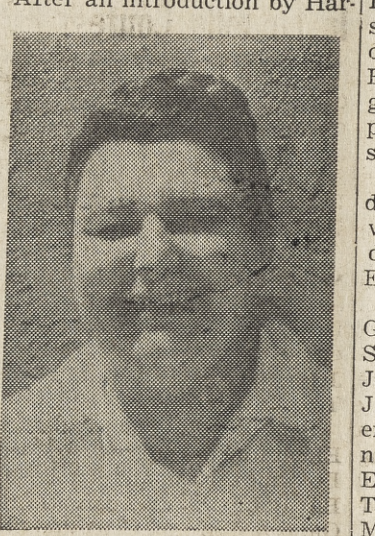

"I hope we begin no later than the July 4th weekend."

Planners Tougher On Variances

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The County Planning Commission Friday demonstrated its unannounced but evident tougher policy toward the granting of variances from zoning laws.

E. L. Dale was denied a reduction in rear yard setback from 25 feet to 18 feet for an addition to an existing dwelling at 2629 Citronella Street.

The commission, since the shakeup earlier this year when three new members were appointed, is more and more insisting that property owners prove hardship to qualify for relaxing the rules. They must show that their property is barred from enjoying equal rights of other property in the same vicinity and zone.

Dale said if he did not get the variance, it would be a hardship on him because he would have to move. He said he has three daughters and a son and that the son will soon need a separate room.

He admitted, with a grin, that the hardship was of his own making.

The staff said the addition would result in 40 per cent coverage of the lot on the already oversized lot.

Dale can appeal to the Board of Supervisors.

Economy Off Slightly In S. Cal. In May

Southern California's economic activity during May fell short of the previous month's record but its momentum carried it to an eight percent increase over the year-ago period, Harold E. Holsenback, manager of Security First National Bank's College Grove Branch, reported.

According to Holsenback, Security's business index for May was estimated at 155.1, compared with April's all-time high of 155.6 (preliminary). In May, 1965, the bank's index stood at 144.1.

In charting the Southland's economy pace, Security Bank's report noted that bank deposits and real estate sales rose slightly over the previous month. Construction activity, based on the number of permits issued, eased lower, while department store sales showed a moderate decrease, Holsenback said.

Employment in Southland metropolitan areas continues at record levels. During April, latest month for which figures are available, civilian job holders totaled approximately 4,327,000, up 195,000, or 4.7 percent over a year earlier, Holsenback, continued.

Unemployment in the same metro areas averaged 4.6 percent of the total labor force during April on a seasonally adjusted basis. This compares April with 6.1 percent during April, 1965. Security Bank's report noted that the national unemployment average for April was 3.7 percent, down from 4.9 percent in the same year-ago period.

'The Other Four' To Play For SV Teenage Dances

The Other Four, a musical aggregation attracting youthful admiration, has been booked at the Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce for Sunday teen-dances. Two of the members attracted city wide attention earlier when they were not allowed to return to Crawford High School because of their Beatle-like hairdos.

Since then, they have trimmed up and now the foursome present a "clean image", a style that appears to be coming "in" with the younger set.

The Other Four were booked for two weeks at San Diego's Teen Fair last summer. The fair attracted 50,000 people. They appeared on the same show with Herman's Hermits, and the Turtles.

They play the 100 Top Pops to teen dance audiences of 1,100 at the Hi Lo Club, and the club circuit which includes Tucson, Yuma, El Centro, Escvondido, Riverside, and Palm Springs. They have made numerous appearances on TV 8 Dancetime. Recently, they played the County Fair.

The members of the Other Four include Norm Lombardo, 15, bass guitar; Ken Pernicano, 15, drummer and comic; Don Sparks, 14, guitar, and Craig Palmer, 18, organist and arranger.

The group has just recorded "These are the Words" and "Once-and-for-all Girl".

Dances are held at the Chamber clubhouse at 9050 Memory Ln. from 7-10 p.m. on Sundays.

The singers, male and female, were selected from 40 California communities. They were chosen on the basis of audition, character references and scholarships from the Honor Choir of Southern California Vocal Association.

There are three singers in the choir from Lemon Grove. They are Patricia Jordan, 1922 Palm St.; David Schrage, 2311 Loma Dr.; and Dain Norman, 7850 Deborah Pl.

Miss Jordan attends Grossmont College. Schrage and Norman are 1966 graduates of Mount Miguel High School.

El Cordobes To Visit Tijuana For Monday Bullfight Performance

El Cordobes, of Spain, the world's number one bullfighter and the most sensational figure since Manolete, will make an appearance in Tijuana Monday at the downtown bullring.

Born Manuel Benitez, but dubbed El Cordobes for his native city of Cordoba, the young Spaniard has revolutionized bullfighting during the past three years.

Cordobes fought 111 corridas during the 1965 Spanish season from March to October to break the 46-year-old record of Spain's famed Juan Belmonte. Belmonte had fought 108 times in one season.

Spain's young idol, whose fearless, dominating style and unruly shock of hair have become his trademark, faced 227 bulls and was rewarded with 197 ears and 38 tails during his marathon summer. He earned about 300 million pesetas or 50 million dollars.

His feverish pace reached height during August when he fought every single day, killing 64 bulls and winning 51 ears and 10 tails in 31 corridas.

After his Spanish stint Cordobes did not relax, however. He flew directly to South America for a series of bullfighting fairs that lasted until Christmas.

Only an old shoulder injury requiring surgery forced him to return to Spain instead of appearing as scheduled in Mexico in January.

In his first Tijuana appearance on July 4 two years ago, Cordobes drew a full house at the bullring by the sea. He suffered a goring, but remained in the arena to finish the fight and win two ears.

The DIMMER VIEW

heavenly for those of us who are needy.

This newest gambit is free auto repairs.

The Fresno Office proposes to set up a garage, fully stocked and equipped, and manned with federally employed personnel to provide free repairs for those who can qualify as unable to afford the cost of auto maintenance. Owners will do the work under the watchful guidance of government employees. The program could be adopted anywhere in the nation where there is a poverty pocket and a bureaucratic hand to fit. It would become simple for other federal bureaus to recommend similar aid for all welfare recipients — including those who drive Cadillac.

We have seen government encroachment in business grow unbelievably great, but this is silly. I shudder to think of the dangers that will accrue from a wine-nipping welfare recipient fixing his own brakes, for example. It would be bad enough if he ploughed into a pole and killed himself, but there is a chance that he would pile into your car.

If auto repairs are to be furnished the "needy," let's insist that the work be done by experts.

Twelve World Records Set At SD Dragway

Twelve new world drag records went into the books Saturday when the San Diego Dragway at Ramona was the scene of a sanctioned AHRA (American Hot Rod Association) Pacific Southwest Records Meet, under the direction of West Coast Director of AHRA, Kerry Clark.

"Old Blue II," the Gledhill Chevrolet's '66 Chevy II, Wilmington, California, with an outstanding points leader, Tom Jacobsen at the wheel, boosted the speed record in the Formula 6 class (E/50) from the old 112.21 to a tire-burning new high of 115.08 mph.

In the Formula 5 (G/50A) class, Marcel D'Avignon, Carpinteria, drove his Ford to a blistering new record of 107.52, wiping out the previous 105.14 mph.

Emergency Power Units Delivered To LGSV Area

Emergency power units are being provided to 16 civil defense Service Centers in the incorporated area of San Diego county, William B. Marty, county administrative officer for civil defense, has announced.

The units are 5 kilowatt generators which will furnish emergency power to operate the 37.98 mc base stations in the County Emergency Disaster Radio network, he said.

Deliveries have already been made to Spring Valley and Lemon Grove.

In most Service Centers the "Central Point of Coordination" is located in a fire station where the deliveries were made. Marty said the generators will not only serve to tie together the Disaster Radio network but would provide emergency power for lights, sirens and essential services at each of the Centers.

The meeting will be held at noon in Henry Langhorst Restaurant east of Jamacha and Sweetwater Springs Blvd.

RIVERSIDE — The Gold Rush which brought thousands of men, women and children from the east to California, is long over, but until today men have been looking for the elusive gold of lost mines, and quite a few have found death instead of riches. But when Tom Cover did not return from his search for the lost Pegleg mine in 1884, there were many who were wondering about the real reason for his disappearance.

The story of Pegleg Smith has been told and retold, and it is quite sure that there were at least two men by that name who were involved in the tremendously rich deposit of black nuggets. The first Pegleg apparently found the gold when he left the Colorado river near Yuma sometime around 1830 and, in search of water or in order to orientate himself, came upon three small buttes at the foot of which he found the nuggets.

This was before the gold rush, and Smith simply put the nuggets into his pocket and forgot about them, not knowing what they were. After the discovery of gold in California, however, Smith had his samples assayed and found they were rich in gold. He failed, however, in his attempt to locate the three buttes.

Fails to Return

Years later, another Pegleg Smith went in search of the three buttes but he never returned from his trip. Another man was involved in the search, a physician by the name of De Courcy who had apparently attended one of the Peglegs after his return from the desert. Pegleg had been totally exhausted and De Courcy had taken care of him in return for which Smith told the doctor of his discovery. Later, the two had tried together to find the gold but failed. Smith died and De Courcy alone continued his search, but in vain.

In 1867, a miner who had made about $75,000 in Montana arrived in Riverside. Tom Cover was born in Maryland, but his father had been against slavery and had been forced to leave when Tom was but 14 years old. Tom had made good in the mines of Montana where he had heard rumors about the lost Pegleg mine. He resolved to find out more about it.

He settled in Riverside where he became interested in the Silk Center Association and in the growing of oranges. He was a wealthy man, carried a sheriff's deputy badge and was well respected. Nevertheless, he had not given up hopes that some day he would find out more about the lost Pegleg mine.

Yaqui Indian

One day he was tracking down horse thieves near Warner's ranch, he met a Yaqui Indian cowboy who mentioned a rich gold deposit in the desert, but the Yaqui would not tell him the location of the gold. Back in Riverside, Cover heard about Dr. De Courcy who had by then moved to Yuma, Arizona. In 1876, Cover visited the physician and gained some valuable information, then he set out on his own to find Pegleg's gold.

He made several trips into the desert but without success. On September 5, 1884, he left for the last time to prospect west of Indio. With him was a neighbor, W. B. Russell. Using a light wagon drawn by a team of horses, the two proceeded toward Julian and Warner's ranch. In the badlands near where Borrego Springs is today, the two men separated. Russell was to take the wagon around a hill while Cover was to climb to the top and then walk down to an appointed meeting place.

On the rough desert trail, Russell's wagon turned over and it took him sometime to reach the place where he was to meet Cover, but nobody was there. Russell searched for two days and then went back, leaving provisions and water behind in case Cover should show up. In Indio, he hired an Indian to track Cover's trail, but the Indian was unable to follow Cover's foot prints across the high solid ground. Search parties were organized, but Cover could not be located.

Disappears

Cover's life had been insured for $2,500 but for years, the insurance company refused payment expressing the belief that cover had disappeared voluntarily.

Rumors began to be heard about two enemies of Cover's who might have been involved in killing him at a camp site with what were apparently human bones nearby was found in the desert. Back in Montana, Cover was said to have been involved in the lynching of a man named Helms, and his brothers had made it clear that they would "take care" of Cover if and when they caught up with him. But nothing definite could be pinned on them, and eventually the insurance company paid one half of the claim.

One day, a drunk tramp turned up in the streets of Riverside. Searched by police, a letter was found on him from one Wilson Russell to Tom Cover. There was no address on the letter and the tramp would not reveal his destination. The letter stated that Russell needed money and that, unless funds were forthcoming, he would expose Cover.

Before an investigation could be made into the matter, Russell and his wife were killed in a railway accident in Riverside, and nothing further was ever known of the mysterious disappearance of Tom Cover.

Troublemaker

It didn't take men long to realize that kissing could get a fellow into trouble. An ancient Greek who was caught kissing a gal on the streets—wife or not—was subject to death. The Greeks, who were anything but slow-witted, did their best to keep temptation away from their fellow citizens. Husbands made their wives eat onions before they left home! However, while they didn't condone kissing in public between people of opposite sexes, in private it was an entirely different

One-Car Crashes Pose Major Highway Threat

The greatest threat to a "safe and sane" Fourth of July holiday on California's streets and highways is the crash in which only one automobile is involved, Bradford M. Crittenden, Commissioner of the California Highway Patrol, asserted today.

"Each holiday, single-car wrecks account for half or more of all the persons killed in traffic accidents. These involve vehicles that run off the roadway and either overturn or crash into some unyielding object. They also involve drivers who lose control of their cars for some reason or another and overturn them in the roadway," Crittenden declared.

"The speed at which the vehicle was being driven is often a contributing factor to the accident. The actual speed may be only a few miles an hour above the posted speed limit but this, coupled with inattention, drowsiness, or reactions slowed by the use of liquor, results in tragedy."

Crittenden also gave assurance that the California Highway Patrol will have its usual holiday deployment of officers on the highways.

"They will be instructed to take action against every traffic law violation they observe," he declared. "We would rather spoil a family's holiday by issuing a citation than see that family shattered because the driver failed to drive legally."

A Pleasurable Proposition

Kisses: They Seal Man's Fate

(Editor's note: This is published through the courtesy of North American Press Syndicate of New York).

NEW YORK (NAPS) — To a kid, it's "Mush." To a girl, it's bliss. To the cold-blooded scientist it's simply "the juxtaposition of two orbicularis oris muscles in a state of contraction."

But no matter how you slice—or define—it, it's that pleasurable proposition, a kiss.

Kisses come in a variety of sizes—ranging from the tiny peck to the giant economy smack! They can say, "Hello," "My how you've grown," "Goodbye," "Godbye—come again" or "Goodbye forever." They can make you feel like William the Conqueror; they can make you feel like Little Orphan Annie.

Kisses have been known to cause wars, strengthen peace, seal men's doom. Where—and when—did all this begin? No one really knows, although there has been a good deal of theorizing.

Precious Gift

To the Greeks, according to information sent in by a researcher at the Shulton company, kissing was a precious gift from the gods. On the other hand, the practice stemmed from the Devil, in the opinion of a few sour philosophers of the Middle Ages. Early naturalists thought of it as a "modified bite," stemming from our primitive cannibalistic past—hence, the saying, "I love you so much, I could eat you up." And Charles Darwin tried to trace the kiss back to the act of lower animals who seize their prey with their teeth.

Whatever its origin, one thing seems certain: Kissing has a long history, during which it has also been known to have some "smacking" repercussions. Cleopatra, who was not really a raving beauty, according to historical accounts, used perfume made from the flowers of the desert to make herself the most kissable woman of that day. Whether it was her Desert Flower scent that went straight to Marc Anthony's head isn't certain, but Cleopatra's kisses say some historians, sealed the doom of Rome.

Paris, Prince of Troy, precipitated the ten-year-long Trojan War when he dared to kiss Helen. One kiss led to another and before you knew it, one jealous husband was leading a Greek army to teach those Trojans to keep their lips to themselves.

Fine Art

Kissing, of course, like any fine art, is executed differently in different lands. For example, pressing the lips together—as we do—would startle a Mongolian. He prefers to bring his nose into light contact with his beloved's cheek or forehead while breathing slowly through his nostrils. An Abyssinian kneels down and kisses the ground to express his love. A matter. In both ancient Greece and Rome, kissing became so popular as a form of salutation that it made perfumed lips fashionable.

A popular 17th century belief was that spirits could kiss. English preacher William Cartwright wrote in 1651, "Tell me no more . . . That two unbodied essences may kiss, And then like angels, twist and feel one bliss." A different kind of essence figures in mortal kisses today as modern women dab a touch of Desert Flower perfume behind their ears to help make a "husbandly peck" blossom into a full-blown kiss.

In fact, a 20th century manual by Hugh Morris, called "The Art of Kissing," states: "Odors are as necessary to love as love, itself . . . Sometimes it is advisable to touch the corners of the mouth with perfume. But be certain that there is only the faintest suggestion of an odor and no more."

Superstitions

During its long history, kissing has also given rise to a host of superstitions—several of which we still observe today.

Know why men line up to kiss a new bride? Because an old English belief has it that all who kiss the bride after the ceremony but before the husband will have good luck for a year.

Ever wonder why we "kiss to make well"? It goes back to the 'nightly practice of sucking the blood from wounds.

The Welsh believe that the sex of the first baby kissed by a bride foretells the sex of her own first-born. The French say that if a dark-complexioned man, who is in love with you, kisses you, expect a proposal—but not necessarily from him! And in the dark ages, kissing a pretty woman was declared a sure cure for a headache.

And the waves clasp one another.
No sister flower would be for given
If it disdained its brother.

And the sunlight clasps the earth,
An the moonbeams kiss the sea;
What are all these kisses worth
If thou kiss not me?

Californians To Vote On Obscenity Measure

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes, President of the California League Enlisting Action Now (CLEAN), announced last week that the organization's proposed anti-obscenity initiative has qualified for the November ballot.

The Assemblyman said the Secretary of State's office has confirmed the qualification, noting that 470,239 valid signatures have been certified. A total of 168,259 valid signatures are required in which signatures have been filed have not yet filed certifications. "The total number of signatures achieved by CLEAN far exceeds the legal requirement," he said.

The CLEAN initiative, which would strengthen Section 311 of the Penal Code pertaining to obscene matter, is the only initiative to qualify for the 1966 California ballot. Four other proposed initiatives on a variety of subjects failed to achieve the required number of signatures.
